

Say Hello to your very own book of Quotes

QuotationsBook

Quotes by Accius

from QuotationsBook.com

Lucius Accius, a Roman tragic poet, the son of a freedman, was born at Pisaurum in Umbria, in 170 BC. The year of his death is unknown, but he must have lived to a great age, since Cicero (Brutus, 28) speaks of having conversed with him on literary matters.

Let them hate, so long as they fear.

- Accius

QuotationsBook